Teaser	If you regularly receive goods in transit, you can simplify the customs procedure by using the status "authorised consignee".
Volltext	Goods can be transported under the Union transit procedure from their point of departure to their final destination, where customs regulations and national tax regulations are met. If you regularly receive goods from the Union transit procedure in Germany, you can apply for the status of "authorised consignee" as a company or individual. This status simplifies customs formalities when receiving goods. In concrete terms, you have the following advantages once you have been granted the status of "authorised consignee": <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • You can receive the goods directly at your premises or at another specified place (the authorisation will specify the specific places to which your authorisation as an "authorised consignee" relates). • The presentation, i.e. the obligation to present the goods at the customs office of destination, does not apply. Instead, you inform the customs office where you receive the goods. A security must be provided for the operation of this deposit warehouse. This security can only be meaningfully provided within the framework of a total security authorisation.

Verfahrensablauf

You must apply for the status of "authorised consignee" in writing:

- Go to the German Customs website and from there call up the form "Application for approval of the status of authorised consignee for Union shipment" (form 0358). You can fill out the form directly on your computer.
- Also download the Customs Authorisation Questionnaire and complete Parts I to III and V.
- Print the completed application and questionnaire and attach all required documents.
- Submit the form to your main customs office. This is the main customs office in whose district your main accounts for customs purposes are kept or accessible. Your application will be checked there.
- The main customs office will send you a written decision as to whether you are granted the status of "authorised consignee".
- The approval usually becomes effective on the day it is sent to you.

Bearbeitungsdauer

Your application will be accepted within 30 days and a decision will be made within 120 days.

Frist

Before you can receive goods in a simplified way, you must be the holder of an Authorised Consignee authorisation.
