usually give it to the mortician.

If the death did not take place in a hospital, retirement or nursing home or other facility, you, as the aforementioned obligated persons, report the death verbally to the relevant registry office, submitting the necessary documents, or instruct the mortician to do so.

If you have instructed the mortician to report the death, the mortician will, with your cooperation, prepare a written notification of death including all family-related information, compile the documents required for the notification and hand them over to the registry office.

You must hand over all the necessary documents.

The registry office will check the submitted documents for authenticity and the information on the documents for completeness.

The death is recorded in the death register. If requested, the registry office will issue death certificates from the register.
