Volltext	If you are helpless as a result of an injury, you can apply for a monthly care allowance. Helplessness is assumed, for example, in the case of these health disorders recognized as consequences of injury: • Blindness and severe visual impairment • Paraplegia and other disabilities that require the permanent and constant use of a wheelchair, including within the home • Brain damage, seizure disorders, mental disability and psychoses, if these health disorders alone result in a degree of impairment (GdS) of 100 • Loss of two or more limbs, excluding amputation of the lower leg or foot on both sides The principles set out in the Versorgungsmedizin-Verordnung (VersMedV) apply to the determination of helplessness and the levels of care allowance. You are deemed to be helpless if you require permanent external assistance for a series of frequently and regularly recurring activities to ensure your personal existence.
