Under "Notes (special features)" (see below) you will find more detailed explanations of the required certificates.

Voraussetzungen

The driving licence shall be issued for the respective category if the applicant

- has his or her normal place of residence in Germany
- has reached the minimum age required for the category applied for,
- is suitable for driving motor vehicles,
- has been trained to drive motor vehicles in accordance with the Driving Instructor Act and the legal provisions based on it,
- has passed a theoretical and practical test to prove that he or she is qualified to drive a motor vehicle.
- Can administer first aid,
- does not hold a driving licence for this category issued in a Member State of the European Union or in another State party to the Agreement on the European Economic Area, and
- is in possession of another driving licence class for certain driving licence classes (for example, class B is required as previous possession for class C).

Exceptions

- Only a theoretical test is required to obtain a category L driving licence.
- When extending class B to class BE, class C1 to class C1E, class D to class DE and class D1 to class D1E, only one practical test is required in each case. This also applies to the extension of class A1 to class A2 and to the extension of class A2 to class A if you have held the driving licence to be extended for at least two years at the time of the extension.

Note: Young people in Germany are already allowed to drive class B motor vehicles from their 17th birthday if an accompanying person is present.

Kosten

- if a probationary driving licence is issued: EUR 44.70
- when issuing a driving licence without a probationary period (classes L, T): EUR 43.90

Verfahrensablauf

Submit a written application to the driving licence authority (see "Competent authority"). It is advisable to appear in person.

- The personal appearance is usually required because the applicant must sign in a precisely delimited field with a special pen on a signature sticker that is sent to the Bundesdruckerei with the order to produce the card driving licence.
- After receiving the application, the driving licence authority must determine whether there are any doubts about the applicant's suitability. To do this, it will obtain information from the Central Traffic Register and the Central Driver's Licence Register.

Tip: The suitability check takes a certain amount of time, so you should submit the application at the beginning of the driving school training.

If the applicant still has to take the required theoretical and practical test, the driving licence authority will commission the Technical Test Centre (DEKRA) with the test after the aptitude test. As a rule, the technical testing centre will return the test order to the driving licence authority if

- the theoretical test is not passed within twelve months of receipt of the test order,
- the practical test is not passed within twelve months of passing the theoretical test, or
- in cases where no theoretical test is required, the practical test is not passed within twelve months of receipt of the test order.
