Volltext

In most cases, a licence is required to handle weapons or ammunition.

You need a "small firearms licence" if you want to carry

- a blank firing weapon,
- an irritant weapon or
- a signalling weapon with PTB marking

According to the Weapons Act, the term "carrying" means: The exercise of actual force outside of

- your own home,
- your own business premises,
- own pacified property (e.g. fenced property) or a shooting range
- a shooting range.

Attention: Unauthorised handling of weapons and ammunition is a criminal offence - in certain cases an administrative offence.

You must also store unauthorised weapons and ammunition properly.

Tip: Find out about the applicable regulations before purchasing a weapon. Contact the responsible authority to clarify any questions.
