services in your country of origin.

You do not have to pursue a recognition procedure in Germany before being granted a residence permit. This can also be started after arrival in Germany. The overall procedure required for this is regulated in the placement agreement.

The Federal Employment Agency must have approved the pursuit of employment in the desired occupational field. The approval of the Federal Employment Agency is granted for a limited period of one year. Approval can be granted for employment in both regulated and non-regulated professions if certain requirements are met.

Regulated professions are those for which special professional qualifications must be acquired in order to access and exercise them, e.g. doctors, architects, pharmacists. You can find out whether your profession is regulated in Germany, which laws regulate it and which authority you need to contact to check your qualifications in the information portal "Recognition in Germany" (see "Further information").

The Federal Employment Agency can give its approval for employment in a regulated profession if the intended employment is closely related to the professional knowledge in the profession to be recognized after entry and other requirements are met (see "Requirements"). A close professional connection is given if, for example, you wish to have your qualification as a healthcare and children's nurse recognized and wish to work as a nursing assistant during the recognition procedure.

The residence permit entitles you to work up to ten hours a week, independent of the professional qualification to be recognized.

The residence permit for the recognition of professional qualifications on the basis of an agreement with the Federal Employment Agency is a temporary residence permit. It is issued for one year.
