The same conditions apply for the extension as for the issue. This means that you must still be employed as a civil servant by a German employer and wish to stay in Germany to fulfill your official duties.

The Federal Employment Agency does not need to be involved in the extension of your residence permit.

If you have not yet taken part in an integration course, the immigration authority may reject your application to extend your residence permit. If you have not yet completed the integration course, the residence permit will generally only be extended for one year at a time until you successfully complete it or provide proof that you have been integrated into society and social life in another way.

If you have been in possession of a residence permit to perform official duties with a German employer for three years, you are entitled to be issued with a permanent residence permit (settlement permit). This is subject to the condition have paid contributions to the statutory pension insurance scheme for at least 60 months or have to provide evidence of expenses for an entitlement to comparable benefits.
