Sachverhalt

With the help of the PIN reset service, holders of an ID card or eID card who have a registration address in Germany can reset the PIN of their online ID card themselves. Holders of an ID card with a German registration address can also activate the online ID card themselves. Since eID cards can only ever be applied for from the age of 16 with an activated online ID card, this activation service is only available for the ID card that persons who are not yet required to have an ID card can also possess, but without an activated online ID card, or which may have been issued with a deactivated eID function before July 15, 2017 due to the option available at that time. The PIN reset and activation service is an additional offer; the option of having the online ID card activated or a new PIN set at the ID card or eID card authority continues to exist.

When collecting the ID card, the citizen declares in writing to the ID card authority whether the use of the electronic proof of identity is desired. The identity card authority then switches the electronic proof of identity function on or off. This decision can be changed at any time during the validity period of the ID card by submitting a written declaration to the ID card authority. The data stored electronically in the ID card will only be transmitted if - a service provider has a valid authorization certificate and - the citizen agrees in advance to the transfer of personal data by entering a secret number (PIN).

Verfahrensablauf

You can request the PIN reset letter online.

You receive the letter in person via "POSTIDENT" delivery or pick it up at a post office branch within seven working days. In both cases, you identify yourself with an official and valid identification document (ID card or passport). For security reasons, the letter will then be delivered by mail as "registered mail, hand-delivered" to the registration address in Germany stored in the chip of the ID card or eID card.

You can also contact the identity card or eID card authority.
