| Teaser                        | Before marketing quality wine, sparkling wine and semi-sparkling wine, you must submit an application for an inspection of the sensory and analytical properties. For this inspection, you need the establishment number, which is then required for the allocation of the official inspection number.                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Volltext                      | Before quality wine, sparkling wine and semi-sparkling wine can be marketed, it must be tested with regard to its sensory and analytical properties. Quality wine, sparkling wine and semi-sparkling wine may only be marketed after passing the test. In order to be approved for testing, the company requires a company number.                                                                                                                                                                      |
