Teaser	With the trainer aptitude test, you prove that you are suitable to carry out the vocational training of trainees.
Volltext	As a trainer, you must prove that you have the basic pedagogical, organizational and legal knowledge required for vocational training and that you are familiar with important training methods. You demonstrate this aptitude in an examination. The examination consists of a written and a practical part. In the written part of the examination, you must complete case-related tasks from all fields of activity. The written examination usually lasts three hours. One examination set consists of approx. 80 tasks. This part of the exam usually takes place as a PC exam. In the practical part of the exam, you have to work through a typical training situation in a presentation or role play and then explain your approach in a technical discussion. The exam is passed if each part of the exam is graded as at least "sufficient". Each part of the examination can be repeated twice. You should prepare well for the exam. There are numerous providers of preparation courses. However,
