Modul

Sachverhalt

- The event must comprise at least three days - in block or interval form - and at least four teaching hours before 8 p.m. and an average of six teaching hours per day.
- As the applicant, you are responsible for the organizational and technical/educational implementation of the event. You plan, organize and implement the event yourself.
- The event must be openly accessible. The announcement must be published.
- Participation in the event must not be dependent on membership of a religious community, party, trade union, other association or institution. Target group-specific offers, for example for special professional groups, are possible.
- Participation in the event must be voluntary.

Online events:

Events in online or hybrid format can be recognized if the requirements for recognition in face-to-face format are met. The following additional regulations apply:

- Online teaching may only be held as synchronous teaching, i.e. with the course leader and participants present at the same time.
- Attendance must be compulsory.
- Online teaching days must be listed in a separate teaching program. In the case of hybrid courses, you must also report the days of face-to-face teaching.

You cannot have e-learning or asynchronous online courses recognized.

Kosten

free of charge

Verfahrensablauf

You must apply to the relevant office for recognition of an event as an educational leave measure using the appropriate form.

- Submit the application documents by e-mail or post.
- The responsible office will check the application documents and decide on the application.
- You will receive a decision from the responsible office.
