Teaser	Would you like to provide investment advice on financial investments on a commercial basis without receiving a benefit from a product provider or being dependent on them in any other way (fee-based financial investment advisor)? To do so, you need a license under trade law.
Volltext	As a fee-based financial investment advisor, you provide independent advice on financial products in return for a fee from the client. However, you may not receive any commission or benefits from the provider of the financial products. In this case, you must apply for a license as a financial investment broker. However, you may not work as a financial investment broker and fee-based financial investment advisor at the same time. As a fee-based financial investment advisor, you are restricted to certain financial products by the so-called sector exemption of the German Banking Act. The license covers (optionally) three product categories: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Units or shares in domestic open-ended investment funds, open-ended EU investment funds or foreign open-ended investment funds that may be marketed in accordance with the German Investment Code. • Units or shares in domestic closed-end investment funds, closed-end EU investment funds or foreign closed-end investment funds that may be distributed
