Volltext	The apartments subsidized with funds from the social housing promotion program (so-called social housing) are subject to occupancy and rent control. In addition, the rent for the apartment may not exceed a certain amount. The rent is usually lower than the rent for other apartments. Which households can obtain a certificate of eligibility for social housing? A certificate of eligibility for social housing can be issued if certain requirements are met. The applicant, who forms a household with the members of his/her household, must comply with the income limit applicable to this household in accordance with § 22 BbgWoFG. The income is checked by the authority to which the application for a housing entitlement certificate is submitted. In addition, the size of an apartment that may be occupied generally depends on the size of the household (appropriate apartment size).
