Sachverhalt

- all avoidable noise-generating activities in the vicinity of churches,
- public entertainment events (sporting events are permitted),
- driven hunts.

The bans do not apply

- to the operation of the postal service, railroads and other passenger transportation companies,
- for repair work on means of transport, insofar as this is necessary to continue the journey,
- for work that cannot be postponed and is necessary to satisfy domestic and agricultural needs, to prevent damage to health and property, in the interests of public facilities or to prevent or eliminate an emergency,
- for light work in gardens carried out by the owners or their relatives.

In addition to public holidays, there are also public holidays. Public entertainment events that are not in keeping with the serious nature of these days are prohibited on public holidays. Sports events are permitted, however, except on Good Friday and the Day of Prayer and Repentance.

The following days are defined as days of silence:

- Ash Wednesday
- Maundy Thursday
- Good Friday (Note: On Good Friday, all types of music performances are prohibited without exception in rooms with bars. Sports events are also prohibited).
- Holy Saturday
- All Saints' Day
- Memorial Day
- Sunday of the Dead
- Day of Prayer and Repentance (Note: Sporting events are also prohibited on the Day of Prayer and Repentance).
- Christmas Eve

The protection of the silent days begins at 2.00 a.m., on Good Friday and Holy Saturday at midnight and on

Sachverhalt

Christmas Eve at 2.00 p.m.; it ends at midnight in each case.

The protection of the Feast of the Assumption in municipalities where it is not a public holiday and the Day of Prayer and Repentance is regulated as follows:

- During the customary local time of the main church service from 7.00 a.m. to 11.00 a.m., all avoidable noise-generating activities in the vicinity of churches are prohibited, insofar as these activities are likely to disturb the church service.
- Employees of all public and private companies and administrations who belong to a religious denomination have the right to stay away from work. This does not apply to work that may also be carried out on public holidays in accordance with the provisions of the Industrial Code and to work that is necessary to maintain operations or to deal with business that cannot be postponed with the authorities. The employees concerned may not suffer any disadvantages other than any loss of pay for missed working hours as a result of their absence.
- There shall be no lessons at schools of all types.

The Israelite holidays

- Easter (Passover) (the first two and last two days),
- Feast of Weeks (two days),
- Feast of Tabernacles (first two and last two days),
- New Year (two days),
- Day of Atonement (one day)

are protected as follows:

- The following are prohibited in the vicinity of synagogues and other premises used by the Jewish community for worship purposes during the usual local time of the main service: all avoidable noise-generating activities that are likely to disturb the service, public gatherings in the open air, parades and processions.
- Pupils at schools of all types who belong to the confession have a day off!
- Employees of all public and private companies and administrations who are members of the
