Office for Transport (LBV) for Hamburg license plates (with HH) and is subject to a fee. Reservations are possible immediately after deregistration. Export abroad If you plan to transport your vehicle abroad, we recommend deregistering it in Germany beforehand. Further information can be found under "Links."

Journey after deregistration After deregistration, the vehicle and the previously assigned license plates may be driven until the end of the deregistration date, provided the vehicle insurance covers the journey. This means that vehicles in Hamburg can still be driven directly to the storage location in Hamburg or in a neighboring registration district. Deregistration of a stolen vehicle Only possible if the vehicle is registered in Hamburg. The license plate will be blocked for ten years, meaning it cannot be reissued. You will need to file a theft report with the police. Incomplete sales advertisement If the information provided about the purchaser is incomplete or incorrect, the previous owner must submit a sworn statement regarding the sale to the LBV. This requires the owner to appear in person and present a valid ID card. For legal entities, the affidavit is submitted by the authorized representative. Proof of authority to represent the legal entity must be provided. The previous owner bears the costs at the end of the procedure. The deregistration procedure can only be started three months after the vehicle has been sold.
