Would you like to operate an egg packing station? First, apply to the relevant authority for a market permit and a packing station code.

Volltext

Egg packing stations are companies that sort, label, pack or repack eggs according to quality and weight classes. Only packing stations are allowed to sort eggs according to quality and weight classes. You can only operate an egg packing station if the competent authority has, upon your application, approved the egg packing station under market law, veterinary law and, where applicable, hygiene law and you have received a packing station code and, where applicable, an identification mark. You need a licence as a packing centre if you are a direct marketing company Market eggs through trading partners (e.g. retail, bakery, kiosk) want to offer eggs sorted by size and quality have a sales radius of more than 100 kilometers. A licence is
