Teaser

You can register the collection of your organic waste from your private household.

Volltext

Organic waste is a recyclable material and does not belong in the residual waste garbage can. Only organic waste belongs in the organic waste garbage can. You can dispose of organic waste in the organic waste garbage can or compost it yourself. The size of the organic waste garbage can depends on the volume of the residual waste garbage can.

Biowaste includes kitchen waste and plant waste.

- Kitchen waste: Leftover bread and cake, fish and meat, including bones and bones, fruit and citrus fruit, salad and vegetables, egg and potato peelings, solid food such as leftover cheese with natural rind, sausage, nutshells or leftover food, tea leaves and bags, filter bags and coffee grounds. Also kitchen paper used in food preparation
- Plant waste: Flowers, balcony plants and contents from flower pots without wire, twine and decoration. Small quantities of garden waste, such as shrub and grass cuttings, prunings, leaves and wild herbs.

This must not be put in the organic waste garbage can:

- Packaged food and fruit and vegetable nets
- (Biodegradable) plastic bags, coffee capsules and disposable tableware
- Household waste such as broken glass, ceramics, ash and garbage
- Barbecue charcoal, candle remains, napkins and vacuum cleaner bags
- Animal litter and excrement
- Absorbent cotton, medicines, toiletries, diapers and

Hinweise

There is no obligation to use an organic waste garbage can in Bremen.

Please place the garbage can on the sidewalk on the collection day with the lid closed and the handle facing the street. Put the garbage can out from 18:00 at the earliest the day before or by 06:00 at the latest on the day of emptying. Please also make sure to label your garbage can with the street and house number.

Allow moist organic waste to drain well and wrap it in newspaper. This helps to prevent freezing in winter and unpleasant odors in summer.
